There is a club meeting every day in the First Christian Science Church that is far more interesting to most members than any other in the city. At the top of the building is the handsomely appointed reading-room with many smaller rooms opening off of it. A committee of handsomely gowned women are here every day to greet new comers and there is a general air throughout the place of a society function, tempered by the peculiar auavity of the Christian Scientists.

Every religious meeting of the scientists also is followed by a social reception. These condition, it is asserted, make it unnecessary for the Christian Scientists, men or women, to seek recreation or social intercourse at clubs.

There are probably more Christian Scientists in the Professional Woman's League than in any other one organiza-tion of women in the city. Mrs. Fred Ross, one of the most ardent of the dis-ciples of Mrs. Eddy, resigned some time ago from the Executive Committee and recently left the league altogether. Velma Swanstrom and Engel Sumner also are Christian Scientists, but have not yet left the league.

Membership in the Professional Woman's League is on a slightly different basis from that in most clubs. For business reasons, members would be permitted to ratain their connection with it without incurring reproach as scientists. The Rainy Day Club, Minerva and the Woman's Press Club will also be affected by the anticlub havings.

The recent "by-law" of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Sciences
Church, advising her followers against allance with any organization which does not admit both sexes to membership on equal terms is being loyally obeyed by Christian Sciencis Sentinel, reads:

"The members of Mother Church shall not be made members of clubs or organi many of our own flock, but with us it's neither Catholic, Protestant nor Hebrew—only just God."

Nearly 200 were buried to-day, and in more than 200 other homes, where the doors are draped, preparations are being made for other sad processions to-merrow and the little German colony was engaged in burying its dead, and out of respect for the lost ones nearly every place of business where the formal card, "closed, because of death in the family," is not displayed has, out of respect for the sorrows of its neighbors, closed its doors. Grief, which had, till now been soothed by tears, seems to have become more acute to-day, and while seemingly there is none crying, the tense, drawn faces and the leaden eyes tell of beart anguish. Among the first of the funerals was that of Olga Arenfeldt. Is years old, in a coffin covered with flowers, tributes from her little friends and playmates, and wearing the medal which she had just to help her baby brother, 3 years old. She succeeded in doing this, but in the attempt, perished terself.

Strong lines of police were present to keep based the crowds at the funeral of Mrs. Anne Hass, wife of the mindeter of St. Mark's Church, and 200 persone stood in the block before the house with bared beads as the coffin containing her body was lifted into the learne.

It was admitted by the police and church der was issued that few of the Scientists in clubs thought it worth while to send in their resignations. They simply will not return to their organizations in the fall. The effect will be severely felt, for in almost every club in the city are women who acknowledge the supremacy of Mothers Eddy.

It was admitted by the police and church authorities that many of the identifications were imperfect, and that some were burying other than their own relictives.

After considerable revisions of the General Slocum's dead list by the police and the excision of names that had been duplicated the total of bodies recovered according to the latest reports this afternoon, was 573. Eight bodies were found off North Brother Island early this morning, and nine more were recovered this afternoon. The divers say there are many bodies held in the crovices in the river bottom and more are planed down by the steamboat's anchor.

According to the best reports, the total of dead will be more than 800, but the exact number will possibly never he known. The latest figures are:

Bodies recovered, 532.
Identified dead, 550.

most every club in the city are women who acknowledge the supremacy of Mother Eddy.

Mrs. Sydney Rosenfeld resigned from all of the clubs in which she has been an active member. For seventeen years she has belonged to Scrosis, and she has been one of the most efficient workers in the Woman's Health Protective Association. Both of these societies have asked her to allow her name to remain upon their books and their she may do, although she will not take any part in the doings of these or any of the cher clubs with which she has been connected.

"It is not an edict," and Mrs. Rosenfeld, referring to Mrs. Eddy so order, "but merely a by-law. It is not mandatory, but loyal Christian Scientiats will not feel like disregarding the advice. The home are churches. Mrs. Eddy belleves, afford ample scope for women's activities.

"When we so outside the church we cannot escape hearing unkind words and coming in contact with evil for which we have to treat ourselves afterwards."

Another prominent club member, who is obedient to the commands of Mrs. Eddy, is Mrs. George Pinck, who has been especially conspicuous in the Ecisetic Club, so much so that she was the choice of many of the members for the presidency at the last election. On account of her Christian Science principles, however, she refused to take up the bitterness of campaign strife, and Mrs. Lyon was re-elected. Now Mrs. Finck is giving up all dub work.

"Being most profoundly affected by the news of the indescribably horrible catastrophe which has overtaken the Luthteran congregation. I command you to express to it my innermost feelings of sorrow."

STERNBERG.

INDIAN TERRITORY FLOOD LOSSES ARE EXTENSIVE.

Railroads Are Slowly Recovering From Interruption of Traffic, but Crops Are in Bad Shape.

South McAlester, L. T., June B.-Ratiroad companies in Indian Territory and Oklahoma are beginning to recover from the disastrous floods that have interfered with traffic in the last two weeks. In places the high water caused the total abandonment of train service and great damage The injury to growing crops in the low-ands has been heavy. Thousands of acres lands has been heavy. Thousands of acres have been submerged and ruined.

The flood reached an unprecedented height in the valley formed by the confluence of Gains Creek and Coul Creek, tributaries of the South Canadian River, about ten miles north of this place. These creeks ordinarily are small streams scarcely a hundred feet wide. The adjacent country is known as Reams Prairie.

It is contiguous to the town of Ream, on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad. Back water spread over this prairie to a depth of about ten feet, from two to three miles wide. For most of this distance the railroad track was beneath six feet of water, and cuehlons were washed from the seals of a caboose in a transent to learn the condition of the track. Fire was kept burning in the locomolive by the fireman placing green woon on the grate and piling his coal on the wood. Otherwise the water would have drowned the fire.

At one place 1300 feet of track were carried from the roadbed, Much of the track was saved by anchoring it to trees with strong cables.

The Katy was hardly more unfortunate than other railroads in the two Teeritories. Despite the danger of diasster in running trains under such conditions there were no weeks or less of fife. Travelers necessarily were pinced at great inconvenience, journeys of half a day sometimes requiring from one to two days. have been submerged and ruined.
